1:00 pm	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Guided visit to HAUS 2019</li> </ul> In Berlin-Marienfelde, a barrier-free zero-energy building with 31 office workplaces and three conference rooms was built between 2011 and 2013. The building was given its working title "Haus 2019" because it already meets the requirements of the European Building Directive that public-sector buildings should have - a balanced energy balance from 2019 onwards. Guide: Jens Fortenbacher, UBA
2:30 pm	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Bus transfer to Marienfelde</li> </ul>
3:00 pm	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Guided visit to SMART CITY MARIENDORF</li> </ul> By 2018, 734 apartments in the "Wohnpark Mariendorf" housing estate will be modernised in terms of energy efficiency, 73 new apartments will be built on the roof and the latest technology introduced to relieve the climate. The quarter becomes a "Smart City", significantly reducing CO2 emissions. Thanks to all these measures, it will be possible to reduce CO2 emissions by around 70% (from currently 26.4 kg/m<sup>2</sup>a to 9.7 kg/m<sup>2</sup>a). The combination of various innovative technologies leads to significant energy savings, a future viability of the entire quarter and a high residential value for tenants.
